

EMERGENCY FILM GROUP

Authoritative training tools to assist emergency response organizations in saving lives, combating terrorism, fighting fires, managing hazardous materials incidents, mitigating disaster, and protecting the environment

EMERGENCY FILM GROUP is the award-winning leader in video and DVD-based training for hazmat & terrorism emergency response. Since 1987, Emergency Film Group has produced and distributed award-winning training films, videos and DVDs of interest to the hazardous materials, counterterrorism, environmental and emergency response communities in both the public and the private sector.

Acclaimed for their training effectiveness, these programs are created with the assistance of technical committees of subject matter experts in emergency response and other fields. Combining the extensive background and experience of our filmmakers and technical advisors, the result is training programs that are both visually interesting and technically accurate.

Emergency Film Group is a division of Detrick Lawrence Corporation, the leading producer of emergency response training films. We are a Veteran-Owned, Small Disadvantaged and 8(a) Minority Certified business.

Some example of their training videos are given below: To see a preview of this series please click the image below

